WHAT IS TBRA?

The TBRA Program is a federally funded program through the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and HOME Investment Partnerships Program. It provides assistance to individual households to help them afford rental housing costs within Lexington County such as:

- Rent
- Security and Utility deposits
- Monthly Utilities

HOW DOES TBRA WORK?

In most cases, households will pay 30% of their adjusted income toward the rent for an approved apartment and Lexington County's TBRA rental assistance program will cover the rest of the rent. ("Adjusted income" means a household's income after deductions that are allowed under the program.)

The TBRA Program will also help with security deposits, utility deposits and monthly utilities.

The program is income based and the household income must be at or below the 60% Area Median Income (AMI). The apartment must pass HQS or NSPIRE inspection and the tenant(s) must be a citizen of the United States.

It is the tenants responsibility to find a landlord that is willing to participate in the TBRA Program.

ARE UTILITIES INCLUDED?

Yes, utilities can be included with your rent. If utilities are not included with the rent, a utility allowance can be provided and will be based upon the number of bedrooms.

Eligible utilities are water/sewer, electric, gas and trash. Telephone and cable TV are not considered utilities.
